Design

First-class bathroom furnishings

Design and function have played a decisive role at KEUCO since its foundation in 1953. The products should combine aesthetic forms with meaningful functions. A standard that is systematically applied, from the idea through to implementation. Collaboration with designers is a long tradition at KEUCO. Already in the 70s, KEUCO worked with Luigi Colani and produced accessories, lights and mirrors for the well-known "Colani bathroom", the first complete bathroom developed in cooperation with Villeroy & Boch and Grohe. Other renowned designers such as Matteo Thun, Christoph Ingenhoven, Reiner Moll and Dominik Tesseraux followed.

Numerous innovative bathroom design concepts and products from KEUCO have been awarded significant design awards, such as the Red Dot Award, Design Plus Award, German Design Award, IF Design Award and the Iconic Award.

Less can do more

Combining functions produces a completely unique design approach. Together with KEUCO developers, the designer Dominik Tesseraux (Tesseraux+Partner) created a multiple award-winning design icon. The reason why IXMO's design is so consistently minimalistic is because the functionality is so compactly integrated.

IXMO
Fittings

In addition to in-wall solutions for shower and bath tub, the product family was systematically expanded to include fittings for washbasin and bidet. Together with the extensive shower accessories, this results in a consistently minimalistic design in the entire bathroom that offers maximum design freedom.

Intuitive yet surprising

With their elegant, subtle design idiom and special functionality, IPOS mixer taps offer an unmistakable combination of aesthetics and innovation. The secret lies in the operation: clear, simple and yet surprising. Vertical actuation of the lever opens and closes the mixer tap. The desired comfortable water temperature can be set by moving the lever horizontally, with the central rough part of the cylindrical body being guided by the lever.

The omission of rosettes gives the series a puristic character. The cylindrical body part is combined with the flat, elongated oval to create harmony. The integrated technology and the delicate side lever give the mixer tap its elegant appeal. The IPOS series is supplemented by bidet mixer taps and impressive shower and bath mixer taps.

The reduced design, focused on the essentials, combines aesthetics and barrier-free functionality in a stylish and innovative way. At the same time, the special functions are not directly apparent.

A stylish addition

AVENO is designed according to the principle “form follows function”. “The reduction to a few geometric elements creates an unobtrusive calm,” says designer Bernd Schriefer. The products can be both screwed and glued in place. Installation using the powerful adhesive is simple, fast and straight-forward. The type of attachment remains invisible.
